

No photo available

Deborah A. Smith

Degrees:

She holds a BA in Political Science with a specialty in Public Administration from the University of Alaska Anchorage, and has had extensive training in computers and adult education.

Previous Experience:

Smith worked for the Alaska State Legislature from 1977 through 1982. She changed careers and became a computer programmer, systems analyst and computer trainer for various organizations from 1984 through 1991. In 1991 she began working as a computer trainer/adjunct for the University of Alaska Anchorage. Soon after, she established her own business and currently works for several clients, primarily in Anchorage.

Areas of Expertise:

She specializes in training adults how to use various computer software including: Windows, Word, Excel, Access, PowerPoint, Project, and QuickBooks.

University, Professional, Public Service:

Deborah A. Smith is the owner and principal consultant of D.A. Smith Consulting; an Anchorage-based computer training and consulting company. She also teaches basic computer skills, and database theory for the layperson.

Professional Affiliations:

Scholarship/Creative Activity:

Honors, Awards, Certificates, Licenses:

Synopsis for marketing flyers:

Deborah A. Smith is the owner and principal consultant of D.A. Smith Consulting; an Anchorage-based computer training and consulting company. She specializes in training adults how to use various computer software including: Windows, Word, Excel, Access, PowerPoint, Project, and QuickBooks. She also teaches basic computer skills, and database theory for the layperson. She holds a BA in Political Science with a specialty in Public Administration from the University of Alaska Anchorage, and has had extensive training in computers and adult education. She worked for the Alaska State Legislature from 1977 through 1982. She changed careers and became a computer programmer, systems analyst and computer trainer for various organizations from 1984 through 1991. In 1991 she began working as a computer trainer/adjunct for the University of Alaska Anchorage. Soon after, she established her own business and currently works for several clients, primarily in Anchorage.