

2007-2009

INTERNATIONAL POLAR YEAR ALASKA™

Did you know? During the fall of 2007, northern sea ice reached its lowest amount in recorded history. Researchers at the University of Alaska Fairbanks study all aspects of sea ice from its size and extent to the microscopic creatures living inside it.