reach higher

change your perspective

Maybe the job you have now is OK, but you’d rather be working in construction management or oil and gas technology. Or maybe information technology. Your potential isn’t the problem, it’s just taking the first step.

With flexible scheduling, financial aid, and advisors to help you get started, the University of Alaska can help you design that next step. Plus, our 16 community campuses and online programs put convenience at your fingertips. Explore the prospects at www.alaska.edu.

UA is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and educational institution. Paid for with private funds contributed to the University of Alaska Foundation.
An image of success? Fulfillment? Your future can be framed by decisions you make now. Investment decisions. Advancement decisions. Going back to school or finishing a degree may be the key to them all. But where do you start?

At the University of Alaska, we offer flexible scheduling, financial aid, and advisors to help students find their focus on the future. And with 16 community campuses and online programs, we’re always nearby. Look a little closer at www.alaska.edu.

UA is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and educational institution. Paid for with private funds contributed to the University of Alaska Foundation.
Maybe you’ve decided that you’re not headed in the right direction. After all, you have big ideas. And you’re ready to shift into higher gear to make them happen. With a little effort – a couple more classes, or finishing a degree or certificate you started awhile back – you might earn that promotion and move to the next level.

There are a lot of different roads to take in life. With flexible scheduling, financial aid, and advisors to help you get started, the University of Alaska can get you on track. With 16 community campuses and online programs, we’re always nearby. Learn more at www.alaska.edu.

UA is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and educational institution. Paid for with private funds contributed to the University of Alaska Foundation.