2013 UA Scholars:
What are your career goals?

With over 500 programs, the University of Alaska can get you there!
Message from UA President Patrick Gamble

You have an incredible education opportunity right here in Alaska’s university system. The UA Scholars Program helps provide you with significant financial support to achieve your career goals in one or more of our three Alaska universities.

UA is committed to persuading as many Alaska high school graduates as possible to attend college. It’s good for Alaska, and it’s good for each of you. Today, a majority of top jobs in this country require training or technical education beyond a high school diploma. The return on an educational investment is high, with degree graduates receiving, on average, paychecks that are double what they are likely to receive with only a high school diploma.

That’s why UA offers over 500 degree programs including many in Alaska’s high-demand job industries… nursing, allied health, engineering, natural resource management, fisheries, mining, accounting, teaching, business, construction and computer science. Three universities and well over a dozen community campuses and outreach centers deliver a first-class education throughout the state, much of which you can elect to take online to accommodate difficult family and work schedules.

Oh by the way, as a UA Scholar you have the opportunity to participate in national and international study abroad programs – then return to Alaska to finish your degree. Talking about great opportunities, how about the chance to do real-world, hands-on basic research as a UA undergraduate student?

We’re proud of your accomplishments so far, your potential to improve the economy, and we are counting on you to engineer the future of Alaska and our nation through your contributions. As a UA Scholar you are clearly placed today among the leaders of tomorrow. Join us to start your journey here.

Congratulations 2013 UA Scholars. I look forward to seeing you on campus.

Patrick K. Gamble
University of Alaska President
