□ From Johnsen's Wednesday message: Earlier this week, the chancellors and I met to begin our budget contingency strategy going forward. The following points came out as a result of this discussion:

The university is not, at this point, implementing a hiring or travel freeze, but I ask all leaders to use an added level of judgement in filling positions, approving travel, and making other decisions with long term commitment.

In terms of what is on or off the table for consideration, everything is on the table.

We are not leaning toward recommending to the Board of Regents that the university consolidate under a single accreditation.

We are looking at the organization of our community campuses as a community college unit. We are not going to pursue a pro-rata approach to distributing reductions that may come our way; rather, our reductions will be made based on each university's unique strengths and mission.

From Kelly James to Everyone: (04:25 PM)

□ Here is the BOR's response to the request to post recordings of the meetings:
