

Preliminary Applications, Admissions, Enrollment and Revenue Activity
19 Weeks Before Start of Instruction
Fall 2023 Semester

The following is a brief summary of fall semester 2023 enrollment activity as of April 17th, 2023. Fall semester registration opened one week earlier in 2023 than in 2022. Information reported here is normalized relative to the first day of instruction for a given term.

Trends are considered very preliminary at this point, with 19 weeks to go until instruction begins. Activity so far indicates that, by the close of the fall semester 2023, about 21,500 students will enroll in approximately 178,000 student credit hours. This represents an anticipated 6 percent increase in headcount and about an 8 percent increase in credit hour enrollment over last year (pages 4-5).

The number of applications for fall semester is up about 5 percent across the board for all groups of students, compared to last year (page 2). The number of admitted undergraduate students is 2 percent (123) higher year-over-year, driven by an increase in first-time freshman admissions of 6 percent (186). About 9 percent (296) of admitted first-time freshman have elected to enroll in fall 2023 courses, a 48 percent increase from this time last year.

As of Monday, 4,270 students had registered for 44,144 fall 2023 semester student credit hours, reaching a level 15+ percent higher than last year at this point. Underlying enrollment trends vary by individual university, as highlighted on page 3.

Systemwide, net tuition and fee revenue is up almost 19 percent ($2.8M) from last year. This is primarily driven by a nearly 60 percent increase in upper division tuition revenue ($2.8M). See page 2 for additional information and details.
