

Preliminary Applications, Admissions, Enrollment and Revenue Activity
9 Weeks Before Start of Fall Instruction
June 26, 2023

The following is a comparison of student activity 9 weeks prior to the first day of instruction for fall 2022 and fall 2023 semesters.

Looking forward to the end of fall semester, final closing student headcount may reach almost the same level as last year with roughly 20,090 students enrolled. An increase of 1 percent in student credit hour (SCH) registration (1,600) is anticipated, reaching 166,000 SCH by the close of fall 2023 (pages 4-5). Working estimates of final fall 2023 enrollment are conservative in comparison to current weekly trends, year-over-year, in part because semester registration opened one week earlier for fall 2023 than for fall 2022.

The total number of program applications is up 9 percent (840), systemwide, from last year. Undergraduate program applications for fall 2023 are up across the board, nearly 10 percent (504) at UAA, 8 percent (214) at UAF and almost 3 percent (16) at UAS. The proportion of all applicants who have been admitted for fall semester is about the same as last year, 63 percent.

About 33 percent (2,087 of 6,289) of newly admitted graduate and undergraduate majors have elected to enroll for fall 2023. Compared to last year, the number of newly admitted students who have signed up for courses grew 15 percent (131) at UAF, 15 percent (122) at UAA and almost 6 percent (9) at UAS. Additional new student detail by group, program level, and university is available on page 2.

Systemwide, net tuition and fee revenue is up close to 8 percent ($2.7M) from fall 2022, with over two-thirds of the growth ($1.86M) associated with undergraduate course tuition and 10 percent ($307.9 thousand) of the year-over-year growth with non-resident surcharge. Overall revenue growth is expected to moderate some by the close of the semester, along with anticipated final enrollment levels. See page 2 for additional current information by revenue category and university.

As of June 26, 2023, a total of 9,649 students had registered for 97,080 fall semester student credit hours, an increase of 4 percent in headcount and 6 percent in SCH, year-over-year. Underlying enrollment trends vary by individual university, additional information on student headcount and student credit hours changes by academic unit can be found on page 3.
