On The Move

Vol. 1 No. 5

August 1, 2001

University of Alaska Statewide

Good Day Sunshine! Gardens are at their finest. The lilies are in bloom, and the landscaping is almost completed. We're enjoying our new view of birch trees and juniper hedges--the stark grounds of Butro have been transformed. The Tanana Valley Fair starts this weekend and we're enjoying the best part of summer. Meanwhile, construction in Butro continues.

Construction Work Progressing Well

Construction work is progressing well in the General Counsel's area of the second floor, and in the Regents' Conference Room on the first floor.

It looks as if the General Counsel's area will be finished by mid-September. That's when the lawyers and staff can move back. The temporary offices they are now occupying on the first floor will be utilized by Human Resources staff who will relocate there to allow for adjustments to their space on the east end of the second floor. The work in the Regents' Conference Room should be finished within a couple weeks.

There will also be work done in the basement of Butrovich, but it is not expected to begin until mid-October.

Meanwhile, outside the Butrovich Building, the landscaping and planting continues with the workers trying to work around the weather which has been a bit wet for the last couple weeks.

Daniel and his suitcase office is on the move. *Daniel Mitchell from KPMG in Anchorage, (far left) is the University's external auditor . He is here for the week doing interim test work for the annual Financial Statement audit which will take place in September. UA Student Employee Tapped by Governor

Lisa Villano, a UAF education student, who has been working in the Butrovich Building as the coordinator for the UA Coalition of Student Leaders, has been appointed by Governor Tony Knowles as the student commissioner to the Alaska Postsecondary Education Commission for a two-year term.

Lisa is a senior majoring in elementary education, and has also served as an Associated Students of UAF senator. She will be leaving her job here soon to prepare for her year of student teaching. She will remain active with the student coalition.

Lisa Villano

Lisa is also a member of the steering committee for the Northwest Student Leadership conference held each year in Portland, Oregon, and a member of the steering committee for the national State System Association Alliance.

The Alaska Commission on Postsecondary Education was established by the Legislature in 1974 to coordinate and provide comprehensive planning for postsecondary education in Alaska, encompassing public, private and proprietary postsecondary educational institutions in the state.

Deadline for the next issue is Tuesday, August 14th by the end of the day.

New Schedule for On the Move

Beginning with the next issue, On the Move will come out every two weeks instead of weekly. The next issue will be August 15, and every two weeks thereafter through October.

In November, On the Move will expand to four pages and come out once a month.

A new Spotlight feature will debut with the next issue. The Spotlight will be on one department at a time, explaining the function of the department and introducing the people who make it work.
